LEONARDO DA VINCI

When people ask me, “What do you find most interesting about Leonardo da Vinci,” I don’t know what to say, so many things – paintings, machines, the Mona Lisa. Five centuries have passed, yet I and so many others still view Leonardo with awe.

He was totally unlike the men of his age in his appearance. He was tall at least 5 ft 8 in, athletic and handsome. He chose bright colors; he wore a short tunic and hose generally worn by younger men.

As to his personality, Leonardo was described as a man with great personal appeal, kindness, and generosity. A great conversationalist, he was so persuasive that he could bend other people to his will.

He always set himself to learn a multitude of things, most of which were shortly abandoned. He was an individual of unquenchable curiosity and feverishly inventive imagination; the scope and depth of his interests were without precedent in recorded history. All the time, through all his other enterprises, Leonardo never ceased drawing.

In his view, the artist was a transmitter of the true and accurate data of experience acquired by visual observation. This idea played a significant part in the results of his research.

Curious? I hope so. Come see the exhibit “Da Vinci – the Genius” on May 6, 2018 at 1:00 pm at the NM Museum of Natural History.

Da Vinci Quotations

“Obstacles cannot bend me. Every obstacle yields to effort.”
“One ought not to desire the impossible.”
“Simplicity is the ultimate sophistication.”
“He who does not value life does not deserve it.”
